CASE STUDY

TGH Technologies simplified their work routine with V-Office

About TGH Technologies

TGH Technologies take innovative, agile, and technology-agnostic approach to assist enterprises in gaining long-term market advantages through software solutions that resonate with their vision and priorities, while also providing them with a competitive advantage. TGH is hugely committed to the idea of open networks and the benefits it will bring to the state of global business and commerce. They help companies convert to open networks by offering consultation and services to enable them to do so.

V-Office has solved our many challenges in all our departments, be it HR, Sales, Project Management, Accounts etc. We were having different tools for each department and data was completely scattered. Reporting and collecting data was a big challenge. V-Office alone gave us a centralized system which is saving our time, money and effort. Thank you V-Office!

Results That Speak Volumes

- At TGH Technologies , the Operations Leaders found it difficult to account for time spent by employees on different activities. Productive hours were lower than plan by 44%. There was lack of visibility to schedule adherence, breaks, trainings, feedback sessions and team activities. This created inefficiencies in planning and demand management. After implementing V-Office, There was deeper understanding of how employees were spending their time. Focused interventions helped eliminate activities that were not critical for business and improved productivity.

- With a single tool, we were able to see the following results-

  - 100% data availability in one login

  - 63% time saved from data collection across departments

  - 100% Updated

  - 100% Coordination

  - 0% Lag
